DESCRIPTION OF SERVICES

Family Promise of Warren County (FPWC) is a private non-profit 501©3 agency. FPWC brings the community together for its main program, the Interfaith Hospitality Network (IHN) to help homeless families regain their housing, their independence, and their dignity. FPWC/IHN is a partnership of congregations, civic groups, and volunteers from the community at-large, helping families who are facing homelessness. It offers an opportunity for volunteers to reduce homelessness and transform lives. In addition, FPWC operates other supportive housing, homelessness, and rapid re-housing programs. FPWC staff provide essential services, linkages, and information and referral services for locating and securing housing, employment, and job training, as well as helping families rebuild their savings and credit, restore their unity, and renew their hope. This is achieved in a fiscally responsible way, keeping parents and children together in their communities and schools.
